

- It is illegal to sell substances to people if you believe that the substance or its fumes will be inhaled. What age restriction applies?*

 - 16
 - 18
 - 21
- Who can be liable for supplying such goods in these circumstances?*

 - The business owner and/or the employee
 - The employee
 - The business owner
- What are the penalties?*

 - £100
 - £1000
 - £5000 and up to 6 months imprisonment
- What should I do if somebody attempts to buy a solvent or substance for another person's use, who I believe may abuse the product?*

 - Make the sale
 - Refuse the sale
 - Make the sale but inform the customer you will only sell it this once
- A young person has explained that s/he wants adhesive to build a model. You have no reason to believe the person will not use the product for its intended use. What age person can buy the product?*

 - Anyone. However, we advise you to apply a voluntary 18 year old rule to such products.
 - 12
 - 21
- Hairspray, body spray and deodorants contain substances that can intoxicate if abused. Does an age-restriction apply to these goods?*

 - Yes, young people should get their parents to buy these products for them
 - In general no, but you must be aware that if a young person wants an unusual quantity they should be challenged with a serious view for refusal
 - No, it's important that young people look and smell good
- Which of the following products would you express concerns about selling to a person under the legal age limit?*

 - A container of body spray
 - 10 containers of adhesive
 - A bottle of nail varnish